4. In what country do you work?

5. Are you familiar with the concept of Open Access publishing?

☐ I'm familiar with Open Access publishing

☐ I'm aware of Open Access publishing, but not familiar with it

jn I've never heard about Open Access

Your publications

6. How many peer-reviewed scholarly journal articles have you published? (An estimation will do.)

7. How many of these were published Open Access by the publisher/journal (i.e. made openly available on the Internet for free to the reader)?

8. For how many of these did you pay an Open Access fee?

9. If you have paid Open Access fees, what amount(s) and to which journals?

10. How many of your articles published in "Closed Access" journals have been made available Open Access by you in a repository or elsewhere on the web?

11. Where did you make them available?

12. Are you able to apply for funding to publish outputs from your research?

jn Yes, and I have applied for such funding before jn Yes, but I have never applied for such funding jn No, I am not aware of any opportunity to apply for such funding

jn Not sure / can't remember

13. If none of your published articles have been made available Open Access (by you or the publisher) what is the main reason?

- ☹ I haven't realised that it was possible.
- ☹ I don't see Open Access as important.
- ☹ I haven't had funding for it.
- ☹ I haven't wanted my articles to be available online.
- ☹ There are not good enough OA journals in my field.

14. Other, what? (Comments on not choosing OA.)
